

How is it related to project:

This project forms a strong basis for how the chatbot in project should work. It shows that self disclosure can be extremely beneficial for users and that having a human partner is completely unnecessary. This shows us that any chatbot is as effective as any human partner and also that chatbot can be suitable for human social interaction.